Pinehurst Social News

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

PINEHURST, N. C., January 30.—Delightful weather, with just a suggestion of spring, not far distant, in the balmy air, is backgrounding the more formal social functions, society occupied with informal dinners, dances, card parties.

Never has tennis been more generally enjoyed by the fair sex, undoubtedly due to the example set by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Fenton, who have been playing their daily sets with Mr. Harry Leon Wilson, Mrs. L. E. Beall and her daughter, Miss Priscilla Beall, of Danville; Mrs. J. C. Bates, of Great Barrington; Mrs. Harriet L. Johnson, of Worcester; Miss Ethel Cheek, of East Orange; Miss Harriett Martin, of Williamsport, Pa.; and Miss Lucy K. Priest, of Exton, are among others who are devoted to the game.

Mixed doubles, usually the match and a discussion of the game at afternoon tea ending.

Among those who are much in the saddle are Mrs. Alfred Lockwood Brown and Miss Hungerford, of New York, both accomplished equestrians; Mrs. Leonard Tufts, Mrs. J. Livingston and Miss Dorothea Joyce, of Boston; saddle ponies happily combined with fox hunts.

The semi-weekly ball games are also generally enjoyed by the women, and friendly rivalry is keen, even to colors and flags, which add bright color to the grandstand.

Among the more formal of many dinners was one given at the Carolina by Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Dula, of New York, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Lyon, of Durham, N. C., the guests including Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Billings, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Tufts, Mrs. Lucy Richards, of Boston; Mr. Walter Huff, of Mason, Ga.; Mr. T. J. Walker, of Richmond.
